Chapter 1

Author's Notes:
I got bored one day and decided to right a dumb story

I awake to the bright sun coming through the window. I turn and see axl still asleep on the bed. I study his face for a moment and then finally stand up and look around the room to see cloths scattered all over the floor. I walk towards the closet and pull on some sweats and one of axls T-shirts.

I start picking up the cloths on the floor. Then I hear him getting up and then I feel his breathing on my neck. He places his hands over my hips and then guides me back over to the bed.
